

BRITISH BOMB HITLER'S GREAT WEST WALL

German Prepare To Flee Naples

Scuttle Ships, Blast Harbor And Railroads

Allies within Sight of City

By WES GALLAGHER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 23 (AP)—German torch and dynamite crews demolished the Naples waterfront, scuttled thirty ships to block the harbor and wrecked industrial and rail centers in the great Italian Metropolis in apparent preparation for evacuation as Allied armies lunged tonight within sight and sound of the wholesale destruction. The battle for Corsica was in its final stage. French troops and American rangers closed in on Bastia, northeast port of the Napoleonic island, and Allied paves and air forces clamped on a tight blockade cutting off German escape. Gen. Henri Giraud, French commander in chief predicted that all Germans on the island would be captured or killed "from ten to fifteen days."

Advances in Two Places
Advances of from ten to fifteen miles in Central and Southern Italy put great chunks of land behind the straightening Allied lines. The whole German left flank in the Salerno area, twenty to forty miles south of Naples, was pried loose and turned inland. The American Fifth and British Eighth armies were advancing and forcing Marshal Albert Kesselring to draw grudgingly back on the interior approaches to flaming Naples. Genoa, Avigliano and Acerno fell.

Nazi Losses Heavy
A French communiqué said the Germans lost heavily in men and material near the tiny Corsican outpost of Solenzara, sixty miles south of Bastia on the east coast. A small number of Rangers are fighting alongside the French and Corsican patriots in the battle. German air power over the entire Mediterranean appeared to be in a state of collapse. The Allies battered German ships leaving Corsica, roamed freely over Southern Italy to crash high explosives among the fleeing foe, and bombed objectives in Greece, Rhodes and Crete without molestation.

Almost no Nazi aircraft were reported anywhere along the 1,500-mile Mediterranean front, and huge Allied ship convoys moved at will. Most of the Allied land gains in Italy were north of Taranto and above the instep of the Italian boot is the reinforced British Eighth Army and British Fifth Corps pushed forward on the heels of Germans retreating northward toward the cluster of major air fields around Foggia.

Jap Strongholds Hit Hard Blows

(By The Associated Press)
Japanese strongholds from Burma to the Gilbert islands, spanning nearly 5,000 miles, have suffered heavy blows this week in a continuing display of the magnitude of Allied air operations in the Pacific and Far East.

A United States air communiqué issued at New Delhi Thursday reported that American bombers, flying through improving monsoon weather, raided freight yards at Rangoon with "good results" and destroyed buildings and tracks in the Mandalay area of Burma. British Beaufighters made attacks in the Katha district and on Cheduba Island, along the coast.

Shirley Booth Plans To Marry Soldier

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Shirley Booth, New York actress now appearing in "Tomorrow the World," and William Krog Baker, a soldier stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C., obtained a marriage license at the municipal building today and said they planned to be married tomorrow.

Worst Is Yet To Come:

Grim Months of Fighting Ahead, Marshall Says in Bond Appeal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—General George C. Marshall, asserted tonight that "we face grim months of fighting on all fronts all over the globe" and admonished the nation against being lulled by initial successes "into a false sense of easy victory."

The chief of staff, in an address prepared for the army "Back the Attack" exhibit of war weapons here, referred to recent actions on far flung fronts, and then said "we are, for the first time since the war started ready to deploy the tremendous American army which the purchase of war bonds has financed."

Reporting that Allied advances in the Southwest Pacific and Solomons areas have been greatly accelerated Marshall added that "in the China-Burma theater we are getting into a position to carry heavy fighting to the Japanese."

The present war, Marshall said, surpasses any in history in the wastage of military equipment.

"No previous war," he said, "has approached such requirements as the present awful struggle. Tanks, jeeps, trucks, airplanes, and artillery are inevitably destroyed by the hundreds on the battlefield even when the going is good."

"So far we have been extraordinarily fortunate, but even so the losses present a serious problem. The weapons and equipment must be replaced immediately without delay. If the advance is to continue and if we are to give the soldiers who depend on these weapons a fair break on the battlefield."

"There will be no end to these requirements for weapons until the last battle is victoriously completed."

Legion Supports Postwar Plans, Elects Atherton

Favors Marshall's Father Draft Idea

OMAHA, Sept. 23 (AP)—The American Legion endorsed today participation by the United States in an association "of free and sovereign nations" in the post-war world, and at the same time threw its support behind administration war manpower policies, which include drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

The endorsements were contained in committee reports accepted at the closing session of the twenty-fifth annual convention, at which Warren Atherton, 51, Stockton, Calif., attorney, was elected national commander. He succeeds Roane Waring of Memphis, Tenn.

Favors Postwar Unit
Participation with other nations in a postwar Association was recommended in a report by the Legion's Foreign Relations committee, and adopted by the convention in a voice vote.

The report emphasized that such a move is the method by which "our nation can best serve protect its natural interests," and added that such co-operation should be "implemented by whatever force may be necessary" to maintain peace.

Support of present draft policies was contained in a report presented by the National Defense committee, which declared that Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, has stated that 7,000,000 men are needed by Dec. 31, 1943.

"As the figure has been based upon a definite strategic plan and worked out by experts, any authority who undertakes to change this figure, recommended as a minimum for the plan envisaged, must assume the responsibility for the effect upon the plan which may result from such change," the report said.

Support Marshall
Former Governor John Steele of Illinois demanded from the convention floor whether that portion of the report should be interpreted as giving 100 percent co-operation to General Marshall in present manpower draft plans.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, retired, of Chicago, who delivered the report replied "yes" and affirmation came also from Waring. The convention then approved the report by voice vote.

The Foreign Relations committee report said "it would be premature now to state with particularity how the peace shall be implemented and enforced, but it must be obvious now to all the world that no peace can be lasting and secure for nations that are not fully prepared to maintain peace."

Baltimore First Major City To Hit Bond Quota

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23 (AP)—Baltimore is the first city in the nation of major size to reach its war bond quota in the third war loan campaign, city bond drive officials reported today after a check with the Treasury department in Washington.

The city has gone over its quota of $170,000,000 by $23,000,000 to represent a municipal subscription of 113 per cent, local bond drive officials declared.

Washington treasury department officials said that Cleveland was second among major cities with 104 per cent subscribed so far. Providence was third with 102 per cent reported bond sales.

Maryland campaigners began concentrating today on increasing the number of state business and industrial employees under the voluntary payroll deduction plan for purchasing war bonds.

State Bond Drive Chairman Hooper S. Miles said that only fifty-seven per cent of Maryland's individual subscription quota of $84,000,000 had been raised and seven days are all that is left for the third war loan campaign.

Barrett Named Commander of Defense Corps

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—The surprise appointment of Col. Henry S. Barrett to the office of state commander of the United States Citizens' Defense Corps was announced tonight at a testimonial dinner for Barrett at the Elkridge Club.

Some thirty state officials and chiefs of the Maryland civilian defense corps were gathered at the dinner which paid tribute to the colonel who celebrated his seventieth birthday on Sept. 17th and his fiftieth anniversary in military service on Aug. 31st.

In his new position Col. Barrett will co-ordinate all emergency services and protective branches of civilian defense.

Until this time, the colonel has been state director of air raid precaution services. His new job embraces medical emergency forces, fire evacuation and related services. Besides his job as co-ordinator he will continue in his present position about which he said "I love and have a barrel of fun doing."

BARUCH ASKS FOR DRAFT OF FATHERS

HAND CUPPED TO HIS EAR, Bernard Baruch listens to a question from Senator Wheeler (right) during the former's appearance before the Senate and House military committees to testify on the Wheeler bill to postpone induction of fathers into the armed forces until January 1. Baruch urged the legislators to support the manpower needs of Gen. George Marshall.

Reds Flank Kiev, Topple Pottava, Shell Smolensk

Moscow Reports Important Gains

By JAMES M. LONG
LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Red army smashed to within artillery range of Smolensk today, further flanked Kiev, and toppled the Ukraine citadel of Pottava to engulf German defenses along a 300-mile stretch just short of the Middle Dnieper river.

A Soviet communiqué announced the capture of Buzanovo, nine miles northeast of the German central stronghold of Smolensk, and Pochinok, nineteen miles to the south-east, as Soviet armies plunging westward overran 863 more towns and villages along the huge front.

Reds Nearing Poland
Surging toward White Russia the Red army also captured Unehla, rail junction mid-way between Bryansk and Gomel, and the Moscow radio said Soviet troops already had crossed into that territory adjoining Poland.

A Berlin broadcast acknowledged the peril to Smolensk, Kiev, Cherkass, and other Eastern front bastions; admitted the loss of Pottava; said Soviet troops had broken into Rostavl and Smolensk, and also stated "a few small" Russian detachments had reached the Dnieper river.

The German military commentator, Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, said the Red army's offensive was "the most gigantic of the entire Eastern campaign," and that the wide Soviet pincers move on the Ukraine capital of Kiev was being pressed with "extraordinary violence."

Sertorius Plans Unknown
Sertorius said German troops were "systematically disengaging themselves," but gave no hint as to where the German high command would decide to make a definite stand.

The Russians now have plunged so far westward that eastern Prussia, the Baltic states, Rumania and Axis targets in Poland and Hungary are within easy Soviet bomber range for the coming three-sided Allied effort to smash the entire German "roof" this winter. The Ploesti oil fields in Rumania are only 433 air miles from the advancing Russians.

Russian troops were menacing Kiev, Ukraine capital which is 145 miles from the old Polish border, and had overrun Velich at the edge of the upper White Russian border only 115 miles from Poland.

Greater Victories Loom
Pottava, whose loss was conceded by the Germans earlier, was made untenable yesterday when Russian forces captured the town of Dikana, fifteen miles to the north, and Golovach, six miles to the south. The Nazis, as usual, said they had destroyed all military installations in Pottava before pulling out.

BARUCH APPLAUDED FOR PLEA TO DRAFT FATHERS IN OCTOBER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Charges that some war plant officials made foremen of their sons to keep them out of the army were placed before the Senate Military committee today by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) as he fought against increasing odds to head off the drafting of fathers.

Wheeler interrupted his cross-examination of Bernard M. Baruch, war mobilization adviser, to introduce several critical letters from labor organizations shortly after the counsel for a House sub-committee declared 300,000 non-fathers of draft age are working for the government.

Demand Investigation
The statement brought Congressional demands for a broad investigation of manpower, but Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) told reporters he did not believe Congress would block the father draft, set for October.

Appearing before the Senate committee for the second day, Baruch reiterated his plea that the army get all the manpower it requests, while spectators applauded his remarks.

Applause for Marshall
Under cross-examination by Senator Wheeler Baruch told the committee newspaper reports indicate General George C. Marshall is "going to lead some new offensive" and he's "entitled to our trust." The spectators applauded the remark.

Demand for Manpower
Demands for a manpower investigation in Congress developed behind a statement by Ralph Burton, counsel for a house military sub-committee, that an estimated 300,000 draft-age non-fathers are on federal payrolls now, although less than half of them have been deferred.

"The time has come for us to take a look at this federal payroll and see if we can't find a substantial part of our manpower from that source," declared Representative Dirksen (R-Ill.). "The chances are there are literally hundreds of thousands available."

Mrs. Roosevelt Finds American Boys Walk Off with Aussie Gals

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 (AP)—Australian lads have much of the British attitude of aloof formality with women, and find that American boys are "just walking away with their gals," Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today after her tour of the Pacific.

"They hardly know what to make of the Americans' fast work," she said. "The boys told me of one lad who got on a bus, sat down by a pretty girl and said by way of introduction, 'Angel, what heaven did you drop from?'"

"That was something new in Australia."

Explosions Rock English Coast 20 Miles Away

U. S. Air Forces Blast Factories

By GLADWIN HILL
LONDON, Friday, Sept. 24 (AP)—A great concentration of British bombers made a pulverizing assault against Hitler's West Wall defenses between Dunkerque and Calais early today while another strong force roared out for a new and deeper assault within the continent.

Great explosions shook the English coast twenty miles away. Scores of enemy searchlights and bursting shells stabbed the skies while the bombers poured tons of explosives on the fortifications guarding the French invasion coast.

Procession of Bombers
The roar of heavy bombers as they went out in a long procession over Dover straits continued more than an hour. Within a few minutes after the flights started, the Berlin, Koenigsberg, Leipzig, Paris and Luxembourg radios were silenced.

In an intensified twenty-four-hour aerial assault running into tonight, American and British bombers ranged over the much-blasted northwest corner of Europe to attack Nazi factories, ports, important rail and highway communications and airbases.

The United States Eighth Air Force staged its first doubleheader in fourteen months of operations with twin daylight raids on the Nazi submarine base at Nantes by Flying Fortresses, while Marauders ranged deep into France for two Down Nine Fighters.

A joint British and American communiqué said the Fortresses in their morning attack on docks and shipyards at Nantes destroyed nine enemy fighters while four more fell to the guns of escorting American Thunderbolts. Two more Nazi fighters were shot down in a Fortress raid on the Berlin-Bastard airfield in France.

In addition to the double blow by the Fortresses at Nantes, the widespread operations were highlighted by the RAF's heavy, concentrated raid last night on the German industrial and railway center of Hannover, in which a great tonnage of bombs was dropped in thirty explosive minutes.

The Germans threw up a considerable swarm of fighters in an effort to stave off today's assaults on the Nantes area, but only one Fortress was lost in the morning raid.

First Double Attack
The Fortress fleet often has hit several different targets in a day, but this was the first time it had hammered the same target twice in a day.

The blows fell with triphammer rapidity between yesterday evening and dusk today, and the drive apparently continued into tonight when coastal observers on the English channel reported more large formations of planes were swarming across to the continent and the Berlin radio quit the air.

The concentration of bombing—which the Germans signally failed to achieve in their attack on Britain—is considered an important factor in the success of the raids.

CIO Executive Arrested in Texas

PELLEY, Tex., Sept. 23 (AP)—R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers and vice president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, was arrested tonight and charged with violating the Texas law which requires persons seeking members for a union to hold a license from the secretary of state.

Thomas posted a $400 bond before Justice of the Peace R. Zierlein.

Thomas was arrested by Harris county Deputy Sheriff W. B. Miller at the conclusion of an all workers rally sponsored by the CIO Workers International Union of the C.I.O.

Merchant Ship Sunk

WAVES IN ACTION--PHARMACIST'S MATE

RELEASING A MAN for sea service, this young woman—pharmacist's mate, second class—is working in the Parasitology division of the Bethesda naval medical center in Maryland, tracking down one of the infinitesimal "bugs" that infect human blood. Her part in the war effort—positive and vital—is, at the same time, pleasant, interesting and remunerative. The WAVES need thousands of patriotic young women who want to play an active role in winning the war. They'll be sent to the naval training school in New York (formerly Hunter College), for indoctrination. Many will be sent later to other schools.

Rules of Sicily prior to AMG included the Greeks, Romans, Byzantines, Saracens, Normans, Spanish, French, Austrians and British.

The German debt has increased six-fold since the beginning of war and now is 200 billion marks.

The United Nations began World War II with 54,000,000 tons of shipping.

To keep one army air forces soldier in the air, ten are needed on the ground.

Federal School Aid And Its Connotations

AGITATION in support of the federal school aid proposal in Congress seems to have taken a fresh outburst over in West Virginia and those who are fearful of all the implications of the plan are warning those inveigled into such support to beware of the pretty dressing with which the proposal has been clothed.

The proposed legislation would allocate $200,000,000 for "emergency" school aid, whatever that is, and $100,000,000 annually for "permanent" school aid. West Virginia's share of that for one year would amount to $6,485,290.

The Charleston Daily Mail observes that "if somebody put a price tag on West Virginia's sovereign power and wanted to sell its constitution, or a portion of that constitution, for $6,485,290, the school teachers of the state would be the first to rise in glorious wrath, appalled at the prospect." Yet that is what, in substance, the proposal means, it avers.

The Daily Mail points to the pretty dressing of the act, which is that, in authorizing the payment of the gratuity to the forty-eight states, it quite plainly says that no federal official or department shall have authority to intervene in state school matters, although it declares that what the statute says and what the bureaucrats accomplish by subversion are two different things—and we certainly have had sufficient evidence of that fact.

"No direct supervision, no," says the Daily Mail. "But in almost every instance where the federal government has exercised the power of the purse it has also exercised discretionary powers about how 'federal' money (if there is such a thing) was to be spent. There has not been a dime of 'federal' money spent by the road commission (which means the taxes and obligations of all the people returning to them) which has not been under the often-arbitrary authority of the United States Public Roads Administration. The current United States Employment Service used to be a state function; now it is strictly a federal affair, subject to orders from Washington. The recipients of old age pensions and classified aid on department of public assistance rolls are chosen according to standards and formulae drafted in Washington."

The Charleston paper is quite right in its warning, which should be heeded everywhere. Federal encroachment has already gone too far, and if the people aren't careful they will wake up some of these days to find their state governments virtually abolished.

Paper Is Important In War and Industry

IT WOULD BE a good idea for householders to save paper wrappings now in anticipation of a shortage predicted for the Christmas holiday season. Such a shortage is likely because much of the United States paper supply is being used to wrap lethal gifts for the Axis.

This has been brought out at an exhibition at an army and navy requirements conference of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry in Chicago, at which it has been shown how paper has enlisted for the war.

Exhibits ranged from a cargo parachute resembling a voluminous paper and net skirt to minute waterproof packets of sulfadiazine tablets for individual soldiers. Ready for packaging in a thick corrugated box was a gas mask for a horse. Under as many as nine layers of corrugated paper were packed army supplies ranging from machine parts to medical supplies.

Packages must be waterproof, corrosion resistant, cushioned to prevent breakage and sturdy enough to withstand grappling hooks and rough handling. Wood, plastics and metal were used along with paper to pack munitions and supplies.

Moisture-proof plastic jackets fitted over everything from needles to airplane motors. Dehydration agents inside the plastic envelopes were added safeguards against corrosion.

In addition to the suggestion about saving paper, this report gives an inkling of the increasing importance of paper in modern industry and, accordingly, the need for developing its sources of supply.

Political Straws In the Wind

IN NOVEMBER, 1942, while the Gallup polls, the New Dealers and some "experts" were predicting either slight gains, or even losses, in Congress for the Republicans, the people rose up and almost swept the New Deal out of control of the House. Forty-two new seats were gained by the Republican party.

At the same time, the voters elected six new Republican governors to bring the total to twenty-four, presiding over 60.3 per cent of the population.

Since last November, the city of Baltimore elected a Republican mayor for the first time since the twenties; Michigan voters completed the job of sweeping all New Dealers out of state offices and a special election for Congress in Missouri brought an important increase in the Republican majority over November.

And still the trend continues. In California, August 31, a special election was held to fill another seat in Congress vacated by the death of the incumbent. Two Republicans, running against a single Democrat, polled sixty-five per cent of the vote.

And, on September 14, in another special election in Kansas to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative Guyer, the Republican candidate won by sixty-nine per cent of the votes over his Democratic-New Deal opponent, as compared to a fifty-nine per cent margin for Mr. Guyer in November, 1942.

All of these events add up to one significant conclusion: each time the voters are given the opportunity, they are turning from the New Deal to the Republican party, apparently determined to get better management of the war and restore representative government when the war is ended.

The Community and Postwar Planning

THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE has done a good job of contributing to the effort to haul postwar planning down out of the clouds and put it where it belongs. The job belongs, of course, in the communities. The public works pool phase of it is the business of all units of government, but, as all experts on the subject agree, that is a stopgap and suited to the transition stage. The long pull is a job for the people themselves.

Industry has set a good example with its committee for economic development. Through the stimulation of this committee, hundreds of industries are working on their postwar manufacturing and selling plans to the limit left after they meet the demands of the war effort. That is a good example of private enterprise exercising the talent which enabled it to grow and to be ready when the war demand for speeding up and expansion came.

War production has shown what this country can do under pressure. If competition and zeal for success provide similar pressure following the war, private industry will set a new peacetime mark in employment totals.

The department of Commerce report is a compilation of the experience of 487 communities which on their own power embarked on postwar planning programs. It is down-to-earth and full of examples of what a live community can do when it sets out to make the most of the opportunities that surround it. It furnishes another powerful argument for local self-government.

Football without Apology

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Next week I'm going to a football game and I'll probably make a first class idiot of myself. . . I'll fight my way through a crowd and up the stairs of a stadium and find a seat for myself and buy a program—if there is one in this time of war—and start checking the names and numbers of the players. And when the whistle blows and the kick-off comes, I MAY be so tense I'll be unable to speak.

And for two and a half hours, sitting there in that stadium, at that football game, I'll be thinking of nothing but football. Not about politics, or business, or fascism or communism or any writing articles. Just football, the forward passes and catch them, too. I'll be the coach and I'll be the quarterback. I'll be neither as joyful if my team wins nor as depressed if it loses as I used to be—but a couple of hours I'll be out of the contemporary.

I'll yell and I'll stand at exciting moments and hold talk with strangers sitting in my row, men and women I never saw before but who feel as I do about football.

And I make no apology for spending next Saturday afternoon in this way. . . I know there are millions of very fine and intelligent men who never go to football games and who look down their noses at those who do. They think it's silly and stupid for able-bodied individuals to spend an afternoon watching twenty or thirty boys playing "a mere game." How much better it would be they think, to stay at home and read a good book or work in the garden or be strolling around a golf course getting some real exercise for yourself.

There's something in what they say but just the same I'd rather be at the football game. It's been "de-emphasized" this year by the war but I liked it even before.

It may be "vicious athletics," but I'm not any kind of athlete myself and wouldn't I look funny in a football suit? They may find it dull but I don't. To me, there are few grander spectacles than two fine teams of young men battling with brain, brawn and spirit on a green field on a lovely autumn afternoon. I'm not comparing it with great music or drama or painting—I'm not that silly—but I do say that it is worth a few hours of my time on a few afternoons in the year.

Paul Mallon Sees Germans' Winter Line Threatened

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 — The steady, relentless Russian pressure has been lately inching its way forward to threaten the expected German winter line, at least on the southern tip.

There, at the vital Nazi-held railroad running through Melitopol into the Crimea, the Nazis had prepared to make a desperate stand.

In no other way could they hold their Black sea island fortress, as the railroad is the only means of transportation except by boat with which to supply the Crimea.

But this is the extent of the threat so far, to break through what popularly, but not very accurately, has been called the Dnieper river line. (Actually, the curving Dnieper river runs considerably behind the Melitopol line, and, of course, the river does not extend anywhere near the Baltic in the North.)

But if the Russians are able to force a withdrawal from the entire Crimea, they will have won an expected victory, although the Germans may still be in front of the Dnieper river at that point.

Dnieper Front Vulnerable

Unofficial guesses have been current in Washington lately that the Reds might be expected to crack through the prepared Dnieper position at Kiev or elsewhere generally and bring an early conclusion to the war on that front. Anyone's guess on that seems to be as good as another. No one here, or anywhere else, has been very good at judging the real extent of Russian prospects in advance.

The absence of any mention of prisoners being taken on either side in the communiqué has inspired some interpretation that the Russians are cutting the Germans to pieces, and those who hold that view expect an early conclusion. But the lack of prisoners may be due to the fact that the Nazis have not been trapped in large quantities of late, and have not been able to establish any forward movement of their own which would enable them to take Russians.

Neither side has signed the Geneva convention on the treatment of prisoners, and thus neither has given any guarantee that the regular procedure of incarcerating them will be followed in preference to the merciless method of showing no quarter.

Fearful of "Savagery"

The Germans have complained frequently about "Russian barbarism and savagery" and this has led some interpreters to believe the Nazis might well prefer to welcome the British and American armies into Berlin before the Russians. But it is also true that Nazi methods are closer to the Russian methods than to those of the democracies, and their customary game is to play enemies against each other.

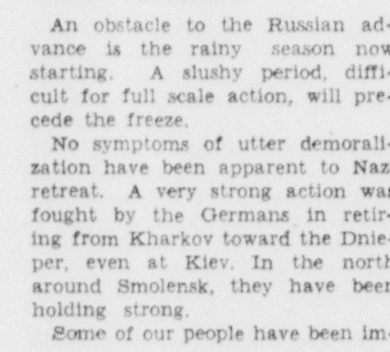

In the end, of course, wisdom should cause them to seek peace with us first, for the protection of their people. But they know we have a treaty with Russia which promises that none of the Allies will make a separate peace. The theory of an early collapse on the Russian front has even spread to Congress where a high military official testified that the Germans "are retiring more or less behind the Dnieper line." What he apparently had in mind was the break on the Melitopol railroad front which would threaten the Crimea.

Weather an Obstacle

An obstacle to the Russian advance is the rainy season now starting. A slushy period, difficult for full scale action, will precede the freeze.

No symptoms of utter demoralization have been apparent to Nazi retreat. A very strong action was fought by the Germans in retiring from Kharkov toward the Dnieper, even at Kiev. In the north around Smolensk, they have been holding strong.

Some of our people have been im-

WHO ARE WE TO COMPLAIN OF STALIN'S APPROACH TO THE CONFERENCE TABLE?

American Impatience Is Playing a Part In Whole War Strategy, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—What the average observer might be inclined to think is a difference of opinion or attitudes on the strategy that should be pursued in fighting the global war—as illustrated by General MacArthur's pointed criticism—is in reality a manifestation of a quality characteristic of the American soldier, namely impatience.

"Let's get on with the war. Let's get the war over with. Let's win the war and get home." These are the phrases heard overseas.

There are the phrases our commanding generals express from time to time as they witness delays on the home front. But basically these comments are the typical remarks which underlie every appraisal of the strategy as it comes piecemeal to the local commanders, each of whom thinks his area is more important than any other.

This American impatience characterizes not merely the army but the navy. When Admiral Halsey said last New Year's Day he thought we could defeat Japan by Christmas of 1943, he undoubtedly believed that if the high officials back home would allocate enough stuff to the Pacific and give the go-ahead to our forces in the Pacific, we could win decisive battles this year that would absolutely assure the defeat if not the early collapse of Japan before the final blows were struck.

Long War Otherwise

When General MacArthur says it isn't his idea of winning the war to engage in "island hopping" and that such tactics would mean victory only in 1949, he went a bit further than Admiral Horne did not long ago when he predicted that the war in the Pacific might last until 1949. The admiral didn't say why he thought 1949 was a possible terminal point but obviously men in the navy feel that at our present rate of progress 1949 is not so fantastic.

General MacArthur wants America to push ahead now. The navy wants to go ahead, too. What prevents it? The global war and the needs of the European theatre of action—the belief that the Nazis must be beaten first. This concept is difficult to define, because it doesn't mean literally waiting till that he will recognize any such responsibility?

We hardly think so. Long before the war broke out, even before any war clouds had gathered over Europe, Mr. Roosevelt's administration had moved a long way toward seizure of the "practically unlimited" powers Mr. Hemmingsway talks about. The war has served merely to hasten and emphasize the trend toward complete government domination of the citizen, and to screen the movement from the citizen's view. Mr. Roosevelt has not only permitted this, but has led it if, indeed, he has not inspired it. The record, we think, is sufficient proof that Mr. Roosevelt and most of those with whom he has surrounded himself actually believe, in all sincerity, in that "economy alien to our tradition" of which Mr. Hemmingsway complains. Wherefore, if we are to avoid the state socialism he warns of, the first task is to change the head of the government.

Axis Is Harassed By News of War Munitions Output

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON. — The Office of War Information leaves no stone unturned in seeing to it that the story of United States war production girdles the globe — faying Axis nerves and buoying the hopes of conquered peoples everywhere.

In sharp contrast to the secrecy which shrouds Axis military output, the amazing American record is broadcast week after week in dozens of foreign tongues over the 14 short-wave transmitters in this country, the BBC and Radio Algiers.

WPB's production summaries are reported as carefully to the inhabitants of occupied Europe as they are to United States citizens.

More recently a new note has been injected into the overseas newscasts—a note that reflects the approach of victory and the mounting consideration being given to post-war plans by statesmen the world over.

Europe Saturated

OWI wisely recognizes that Europe by now must be thoroughly saturated with an awareness of United States production might.

Hence, a tapering off in bare production figures and a shift to news that has to do with postwar output. Typical of the overseas broadcasts are the weekly reports of Blake Ozias, aide to WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson and a former resident of France. Ozias has a fluent command of French and for twenty-six weeks has driven home to the people of that country the tale of American production.

Ozias has the distinction, incidentally, of being the real-life member of the OWI triumvirate which included the fictitious characters John Durfee, "American columnist," and Wallace Herrick, "United States military analyst." All three participated in OWI overseas reporting.

Farm Machinery Stressed

Ozias' recent news summaries have dealt with the production of agricultural machinery which is destined to help the return of prosperity to the European countries devastated by the Nazis.

The reconstruction of liberated regions became the keynote of OWI broadcasts following WPB's allocation of additional steel for farm implements. The work of the Office for Relief and Rehabilitation, headed by former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, was stressed, particularly as regards Tunisia.

European listeners heard these words:

"In the United States today plans are being made to put agricultural industries in the liberated countries on their feet. . . . As soon as possible, after victory comes, the farms of liberated Europe will have thousands of tractors, ploughs, harrows, reapers."

These words must have had a pleasant ring to the prosperity-starved countries overrun by the Boches.

Arnold's Hand Seen

Friends of Thurman Arnold see his fine hand in the recent Justice department shake-up that saw Tom Clark shifted out of Arnold's old post as trust-buster after only four months' trial and Wendell Berge slipped into the anti-monopoly hot spot.

Arnold keeps a close tab on the war-throttled monopoly fight from his perch on the federal bench. He is already getting fidgety from lack of action and is said to be anxiously awaiting the day when restrictions are removed so that he can take up the crusade against Industrial Giantism where he left off.

In the meantime, Arnold does not want the government's anti-trust machinery to get rusty.

Mother Gets Draft Quiz

Selective service headquarters deny having any hand in it, but at least one local draft board is taking an extra-curricular peek into its pool of woman-power.

A Washington mother of three recently received from her husband's draft board, No. 259, at Fushing, N. Y., a formal questionnaire similar to the one the head of the family had filled out shortly after registering several years ago. Near the blank for the name of the registrant, the words "wife of" had been typed.

Although not required to do so by law, the couple filled out the blank and returned it in the specified five days, furnishing the board with complete data on the woman's previous working experience and qualifications for a possible later call to war duty.

The Austin-Wadsworth national draft bill, which has yet to win administration approval, is still languishing in congress.

Factographs

By June of 1943, one of every three civilian jobs in the quarter-master corps was held by a woman.

British newspapers have cut their paper consumption to about one-sixth of pre-war rates.

About 1,800 letters converted into V-Mail are not much larger than a package of cigarettes.

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

WATKINS E. WRIGHT

CHAPTER NINETEEN
"Tomorrow morning?" asked Bill.
"Yes, that's when I go to work."
"Now look here, Susan, I—"
"Don't you dare say you forbid me to take the work, Bill," Susan interrupted. "That will be carrying the mid-Victorian idea a bit too far."
Bill gulped. "Okay. I suppose you'll feel just swell after a day at the factory—and all cool and sweet for your husband when he comes home at night, tired out and hungry."
"You'll find everything as usual," said Susan. "If you must think only of yourself, I leave as soon as the luncheon hour is over. They don't serve an evening meal at the factory."

"Well, that's a comfort," said Bill. "Having my wife working at night would be a little too much."
Susan got up and went for the dessert and second cups of coffee. She placed Bill's beside him and then went back to her chair.

"Did Alicia Carter make up her mind—at lunch?" she asked.
"Almost," said Bill.
"I take it she makes up her mind on the installment plan," said Susan.
"Certainly not. But when you have a lot of property, and want to keep some of it, it takes time to decide just what to do."
"Your time as well as hers," said Susan.

"Look here, Susan, why do you always take that tone where Alicia is concerned?"
"What tone?"
"You know darned well what I'm talking about," said Bill. "Take this morning, for instance—"

"I'd rather not," said Susan. "I didn't like this morning, not a bit. All those silver fox furs, and your office reeking with expensive perfume. Alicia sitting there like something out of Hollywood, and being so—so possessive."

"Now you're talking like an idiot," said Susan.
"Thanks," Alicia said. "I'm a client of mine." Bill said, "and I have to be nice to her until the deal is closed."

"You certainly must be succeeding, judging from the way she drags the deal out."
"I never thought you'd turn out to be one of those wives who are jealous of their husbands' clients or patients, or what have you."

"Well, I'll have none of Alicia Carter, thank you," said Susan. "I don't like the woman. She goes around marrying men—like other women buy hats."

"That needn't bother you. She can't marry me."

"Why can't she?"

"Good Lord, I'm married to you."

"Certainly you are," said Susan. "But one of her other husbands was married—and that didn't keep him from ditching Wife No. 1 and swearing to love, honor and cherish Alicia until the divorce courts did them part."

"Since when did you start being catty?" said Bill.

"I started with the Alicia Carter entrance into your life," answered Susan promptly. "And speaking of Alicia, and the cherish part, that man certainly was as good as his word. All that property he cherished her with—the same property she's using now to get you on her string."

"Good Lord!" Bill drained his cup and shoved back his chair. "What's come over us, anyway, honey? We're talking like a typical low-type pair of married people. We never did this before."

"Well, don't look at me like that," said Susan. "I didn't start it."

"Then I suppose I did."

"You must have—since there are only two of us."

Bill got up, fighting back a surge of anger. Darn women anyway! They were the most unreasonable people on top side of God's green earth. You couldn't reason with them. You couldn't get them to discuss anything at all in a rational man-to-man fashion.

"Very well," he said. "I'm sorry you take such an attitude when I'm only trying to make a little extra money, while also trying to do my part in the war effort—trying to manage some inexpensive homes for workers and make things a little pleasanter for them."

"I hope you succeed, Bill, honest I do," said Susan. "But this Alicia Carter gets my goat."

"I wish you'd stop harping on her, and think more about why she's come into the picture. She won't be there much longer, and then—"

"You said that before," Susan reminded. "You told me before that as soon as the matter of the property was settled, the—the affair would end."

"I know I did," Bill said. "It's just taking longer than I thought it would."

"Thanks to Alicia," said Susan under her breath.

"What did you say?" Bill demanded.

"Nothing," Susan began to clear off the table.

Bill watched her and then said, "Well, I hope we can at least have a quiet evening at home."

"You can," said Susan. "I'm going out."

"What, and a day of labor before you?" Bill mocked.

"It's the rehearsal for the play," said Susan. "Mrs. Platt has called it for tonight."

"Funny she didn't ask me to take a part," said Bill. "Playing opposite you, for instance."

"She knows you hate making an exhibition of yourself, as you once expressed it," Susan said. "Besides, casting a man and wife opposite each other isn't—er—romantic."

"Where've you cast opposite?"

"Adam North."

"That WILL be romantic," Bill said unpleasantly. "Why in heck didn't Mrs. Platt cast him opposite Brenda, or Ruth Moorehouse? Lord knows it's time he got interested in a woman who isn't married."

"Why, Bill," Susan said, laughing. "I thought you and all the Linville husbands wanted Adam to stay single. Just look how handy he is at taking your places when you work late, or go to Elmwood, or—"

"Nonsense!"

"If Adam had a wife of his own," Susan went on, "where on earth would all you husbands be?"

Bill didn't reply. He stalked from the room.

Food Production Abroad Planned By U. S. Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Plans for stimulating food production abroad so this country will not have to feed the world have been perfected by the War Mobilization Board and are now on President Roosevelt's desk.

Announcement of the global work to be undertaken may be forthcoming by this weekend, along with an executive order designating which federal agency is to administer the huge program.

The job may go either to the Office of Economic Warfare, which already is conducting large-scale purchasing operations abroad, or to the Agriculture department with its foreign bureau and corps of experienced scientists. The state department probably will have general supervision insofar as foreign policy is concerned.

Eventually the program likely will be integrated into some United Nations organization in line with the Allied policy of sharing international responsibilities.

This would be in keeping, too, with United Nations plans to organize relief and rehabilitation work for the war-wrecked areas on a world wide basis in November. Distribution of food produced undoubtedly will be one of the functions of the relief agencies.

FHA To Resume Housing Program

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP)—Abner H. Ferguson, commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, said today that the FHA is in a position to resume, "at a moment's notice," its insurance activities in the small home field and "to energetically press forward in the post-war building program."

Ferguson declared that some advocates of new methods of housing finance "seemed to have overlooked the fact" that the FHA needs no new legislation to go into immediate action in the small home field "the moment wartime restrictions are lifted."

The FHA commissioner, in an address prepared for delivery to the annual business meeting of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, said there still was available "practically half a billion dollars of unused insurance authorization," which he said would be sufficient to finance the construction of at least 100,000 houses. Additional funds also might be available for the agency's post-war program, he said.

He told the bankers that in the nine years of FHA existence more than five and a half million families have been enabled to buy, build or improve their homes. For these purposes, he said, private lending institutions, with the aid of FHA insurance, have advanced seven billion dollars.

Nazi Retreat from South Italy May Continue North of Naples

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press War Analyst
There are strong intimations in the war news from Italy that the Nazi retreat up the narrow boot of Italy is destined to continue north of Naples.

No Nazis except stragglers or suicide rear-guard units are reported south of the Salerno - Auletta - Potenza - Matera - Taranto highway, nor east or south of the northward offshoot of that road to Bari from Massafra, just above Taranto. Nazi demolition in Naples leaves little doubt that it also is to be surrendered and that the Anglo-American advance, swinging now like a gate on the Salerno hinge, will meet its next formidable opposition somewhere north of the Naples-Foggia line.

Rome in Danger

At a guess that projected Nazi defense front below Rome might run along the north bank of the Volturno river in the west, linking up with the lower Calore and the upper Tammaro to reach the crest of the Apennines near Campobasso. The line would join the Fortore river, east of the mountains, at that point to reach the Adriatic coast north of Lake Dilestina. It would represent a river and mountain front less than 100 miles long but would be dangerously close to Rome.

May By-Pass Naples

Allied tactical air forces appear to be concentrating on the Nazi supply and escape routes from Naples, particularly northward along the Volturno crossings. That might be an indication that General Eisenhower intends to by-pass Naples, and the tremendous bulk of Vesuvius south of it, to strike by sea again along the coast of the gulf of Gaeta rather than work his way forward frontally at probably heavy life cost to his armies.

It is still not clear just how far the Allied occupation of Italy is intended to go. There are good military arguments for a halt somewhere, perhaps along the Naples-

Foggia short line, but certainly if the foe elected to make his next stand north of that position he would be followed up.

Consider Political Grounds

Military reasons alone cannot shape the campaign in Italy. Good political grounds can be advanced for pushing on into Rome itself as General Clark told his army after the Salerno bridgehead fight would be done. The final decision probably rests in any case on what the Germans attempt to do, and also upon the relation of the Italian campaign to the next contemplated major Allied move in other sectors.

London comment still harps on the possibility of a Balkan drive. There is nothing on this side of the Atlantic nor in Prime Minister Churchill's war review to Parliament to sustain that conjecture. On the contrary, Churchill laid his main stress on cross-channel invasion preparations in Britain.

Again, however, what happens within Italy, on the Greek peninsula or in the Balkans within the next few weeks must effect Allied military plans. With the Russians virtually at the Dnieper, the war in the East could roll so close to Rumania and Bulgaria soon as to force them out of the Axis orbit by internal upheavals. The Allies must stand ready to take prompt advantage militarily of any new "windfall."

Constipation?

TRY THIS HEALTH DRINK FIRST

Juice of 1 lemon in glass of water first thing on arising

Has a natural laxative effect for most people, and it aids digestion, supplies needed vitamins, builds resistance, too!

Here's a surprisingly simple way to avoid the usual harsh laxatives.

Most people find that the juice of one lemon in a glass of water, taken first thing on arising, is all they need to insure prompt, normal elimination—gently. And lemon and water is good for you.

Lemons Build Health! Lemons are among the richest sources of vitamin C, which restores energy, helps you resist colds and infection. They're the only known source of vitamin P (inulin) and supply valuable amounts of B₁. They alkalize—aid digestion. Millions not troubled with constipation take lemon and water daily just as a health builder.

Why not keep regular with this refreshing morning drink that builds health too? Try it ten days, first thing on arising—see if you don't benefit!

P.S.—LEMON & SODA—Some prefer juice of 1 lemon in half glass water with ½ to 1 teaspoon baking soda (bicarbonate) added. Drink as foaming quirts.

Keep regular the healthful way!

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE PURPOSE OF TABLES

REGARDLESS of how you value a hand or what tables of high-card tricks you use, it is up to you to be the master of your destiny and make your own decisions. You are not the servant of your honor card count. It does not give orders to you, to open the bidding with one hand or pass with another. It is supposed to be your servant, just as is a tool in the carpenter's kit, waiting there to be used when you wish to use it. On many occasions, you should violate the supposed requirements of your honor table, passing a hand with a bit more than minimum prescribed amounts or bidding with a hand which lacks them.

South West North East
Pass Pass 1 Pass
3 Pass 1 Pass

That is not the bidding which was actually done on this deal. It was merely "Pass, pass, pass, pass" and so a game for North-South was thrown into the waste basket.

When the players exposed their hands after the pass-out, South in an agonized tone wanted to know why North had not opened with a spade bid.

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Bolzano, the Italian gateway to the Brenner Pass, was Austrian until the close of World War I, and most of its 35,000 residents still speak German.

"Simply because I did not have two and a half honor tricks," he answered, "and because I do not like psychics or shaded bids."

He went on to explain that some years ago he used to consider a queen of one suit and a jack of another, if each had a couple of guards, as half a trick, but that in recent years he had not done this. He had not taken account of the fact that he had a five-card length in the most desirable suit of all, spades, the only suit which always compels opponents to bid at a higher level in order to overcall it with their own suit.

If that hand, with its five spades headed by the Q, were submitted to the leading 50 players of the nation—whoever they may be—at least 48 of them, and probably 50, would make an opening bid of a spade on it. Of course, as it turns out, game depends on the location of the heart K, but that disease would work as well as lie, and only three tricks would be lost, one in clubs and two in trumps.

Use Herbs, Said Grandpa When Bowels Need Relief

In Grandpa's time the successful treatment of simple constipation—bloating, flat, sick headaches, sour stomach and other ill effects resulting from clogged intestines and sluggish colon—was by means of plain old fashioned laxatives provided by nature, which brought prompt, relaxing, effective relief. The same simple bowel moving herbs are just as effective today. Thousands still prefer them to indiscriminate use of calomel, drastic salts and harsh, gripping purgatives. They use—as directed and needed—Ranoli's Laxative Herb Tablets that cost only 25¢ at any well-stocked store. An old fashioned formula—too good to change. Try Ranoli's Herb Tablets tonight. Steps Eliminate Accident Hazard

MT. SAVAGE, Sept. 23.—Broad stone steps have been erected at the entrance of Church lane below St. Patrick's church. The steps eliminate a definite hazard for church-goers, who formerly had to climb a steep embankment before entering the lane. A number of accidents have occurred at this point, especially during the winter months.

The lane is in the lower section of Church property and has been used as a "short-cut" by members of the congregation living in the lower end of town and on Main street since the erection of the church over eighty years ago. The steps were built by Patrick Sullivan, whose home is located on this corner.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

For Company Dinners—Star Smoked Beef Tongue!

Even with meat rationing, you can still entertain! Here's how to fix a delicious meal to serve twelve guests... for as little as 15 cents! (Ask each person to bring 1 meat point.) Plan your party around beef tongue. Serve it hot, surrounded with a variety of vegetables, or serve it cold, using the recipe given here. Be sure to ask your meat man for Armour's Star Smoked Beef Tongue, weighing from 3 to 3½ pounds. It's a real delicacy... a favorite of epicures! There's no fuss or flurry when you fix beef tongue. Just place it in cold water to cover. Bring to a boil, turn heat low and let simmer 4½ hours until tongue is tender. Meanwhile, you can complete your other party plans without giving a thought to your meat! When tongue is very tender, remove skin and roots and let cool right in cooking water. Then whip together equal parts of softened cream cheese and prepared horseradish. Serve tongue and sauce as shown above.

And here's a tip: Any left-over tongue makes swell sandwiches later!

General Butcher to Retire Soon

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—The impending retirement of Brig. Gen. Edwin Butcher, Third Service Command chief of Staff, was announced today by Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, commanding general.

Butcher's retirement headed a list of approximately thirty officers in the Third Service area who have passed statutory retirement age and whose release from active service has been authorized by the War Department, Reckord said.

The chief of staff will retire from active duty on Jan. 31, 1944.

Gen. Butcher has been an officer in the regular army since graduation from the United States military academy in 1904.

After taking a course at the army war college in 1928, Butcher was assigned to the office of the chief of infantry in the equipment section. While in this service, he assisted in the testing and approving of the Garand semi-automatic shoulder rifle and the fast tank.

From 1935 to 1938, he was chief of staff of the Philippine division and attended maneuvers on Bataan Peninsula where the division made improvements in the plan for the defense of that area.

Gen. Butcher became chief of staff at third service command headquarters since Nov. 1940. He was named chief of staff under Maj. Gen. Reckord in January, 1942.

The third service command embraces Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Maryland.

It is expected that the nation's requirements for oil will be four and a quarter billion barrels in the first three months of next year.

TOWN CREEK CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Town Creek Homemakers Club met Monday, at the home of Mrs. W. H. Hardman, with Mrs. Ray Shryock presiding. Mrs. E. Slider gave the history of the hymn, "Gods Way is the Best Way."

Nutrition chairman, Mrs. Hardman, talked on meat substitutes used in her own home. Members of the club responded with various ways of serving eggs. Different phases of the Cumberland Fair were discussed, especially the household department, of interest to every woman.

Miss Maude A. Bean talked on "Wartime Pots and Pans", emphasizing good care in their daily use. She read a number of poems written by Mrs. John Grindle, Westernport, Md., and dedicated to the Federation of Homemakers Clubs.

Mrs. Taylor McLaughlin will be hostess Oct. 18.

Major Griffith Made Liaison Officer

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23 (AP)—Maj. Kenneth E. Griffith, one of the founders of American Airlines, Inc., has been assigned air liaison officer to the third service command, Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord announced today.

Maj. Griffith of Indianapolis, was one of the two original organizers of Universal Air Lines, Inc., which began a commercial passenger route between Cleveland and Chicago in 1928. Universal later became known as American Airlines.

Gen. Reckord, commanding general of the Third Service Command, said that Maj. Griffith was a member of the aviation section of the signal corps during the first world war. He studied advanced flying in France and Italy, Gen. Reckord added.

"Sorry—I've Done All I Can"

Don't tell that to the Invasion Troops!

AMERICA is proud of the way you have responded to her call for help. In the First and Second War Loan Drives you opened your hearts—and your purses—and invested generously.

But this is no time to say, "Sorry, I've done all I can."

Not when our troops are smashing ahead on every front.

Not when the cry from every front is for more tanks . . . more guns . . . more planes to strike the knockout blow.

Not in your country's most critical hour.

Today, everyone who possibly can, must invest in at least one extra $100 War Bond. More if you possibly can. That's in addition to your regular War Bond subscriptions. Some of you must invest thousands in order to reach our national quota.

A big job? Yes! But INVASION is a big job, too! And that's what the 3rd War Loan is for—INVASION!

And it's for your loved ones, too . . . for the sons and brothers, sweethearts and husbands who are doing the fighting.

Can you look into your heart and say to them, "I've done all I can?"

Can you tell that to the Invasion Troops?

Of course you can't! No true American! So NOW . . . when America needs your help as it never has in all history . . . make up your mind to do MORE in September. Invest in the safest way in the world! Invest out of current income, out of idle or accumulated funds. Back the invasion with at least one extra $100 War Bond this month.

Hold up your head and say, "I've done MORE!" Just as our boys are doing more all over the world today.

Crawford and MacMurray Star in Picture

Joan Crawford and Fred MacMurray bring Helen MacInnes' characters to life on the screen of the Maryland theater, where they are now co-starring in M-G-M's "Above Suspicion."

Joan and Fred play a honeymoon couple who take advantage of their position as typical tourists traveling in Germany before the outbreak of war to track down a mysteriously missing British agent. The trail starts in Paris, leads them to Salzburg, where bookshop owner Felix Bressart gives them the next clue. In Salzburg they become friendly with Conrad Veidt and Basil Rathbone and receive the clue leading to the end of the trail.

In Paris, they discover Rathbone to be a Nazi spy and Veidt to be a member of the British Secret Service. They rescue the missing agent and make their escape in a series of hairbreadth adventures.

Joan Crawford is at her most glamorous as the young bride and MacMurray uses his air of nonchalance to best advantage as her groom who must combine sleuthing with his honeymoon.

Jap War Aims Basis for Film

"Behind the Rising Sun," RKO Radio's film revelation of Jap war aims, is the sort of picture that makes one exclaim: "Why didn't somebody think of this before?"

Based on James R. Young's best-selling book the unusual offering gives dramatically the reasons for Japan's attempt to wipe out the American fleet at Pearl Harbor. As a portrait of Japan and the Japanese people and how they got that way, it is a remarkable achievement, as well as thoroughly absorbing screen entertainment. And it marks the first effort on the part of any American film company to present such a timely and obviously valuable picture to American film patrons.

All this may make "Behind the Rising Sun" sound as though it were a documentary film, which of course it is not. Basically it is a stringently and honestly told tale of six persons, three of them Japs and three Americans, whose lives are brought together in Tokyo during the significant years from 1936 on, when the Jap army leaders, drunk with dreams of world conquest, were preparing their stroke against the United States.

Henry Aldrich Opens at Garden

Opening today at the Garden theater is another in the Aldrich series, "Henry Aldrich Gets Glamour." Jimmy Lydon is starred and receives excellent support from Frances Gifford, Diana Lynn and Anne Rooney.

The co-feature at the Garden today is an exciting Western, "Pirates of the Desert," starring Tim Holt. Cliff Edwards is included in the cast.

Another chapter of "Don Winslow of the Coast Guard" rounds out the Garden program.

"Berlin" Bares Nazi Intrigue

Columbia's "Appointment in Berlin," the new and exciting spy drama which opened at the Embassy theater yesterday, brings to the screen an entirely different and unusually dramatic version of the machinations of the shrewd and adventurous members of modern spy rings. Here we have a highly respected young R.A.F. Commander throwing himself into an orgy of drinking and gambling so that he may be in "disgrace" in his own country and thus gain the confidence of a powerful Nazi group.

This leads to the exciting se-words of abuse at his own country. What he did not reckon with, was falling in love with the beautiful sister of a Nazi leader, a girl he had courted for the purpose of furthering his mission. When she renounces the party after they discover that the Britisher has outwitted them, and the two lovers attempt to escape through Holland, the story rises a breathlessly dramatic climax that will thrill and fascinate you.

Mrs. Chu Chih-Ming, vice-president of the World Y.W.C.A. and wife of Maj.-Gen. Chu, military attache of the Chinese embassy in Washington, will address the opening convocation.

Mrs. Chu accompanied Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek on her recent trip across the United States and Canada. For two years the two women were associates in social work in China.

The Y.W.C.A. officer will discuss wartime China and the specific problems confronting her people.

Hood College, organized in 1893, will observe its semi-centennial on Oct. 9 and 10. The school, however, had its real beginning in 1839 with the founding of Winchester Hall.

Rare Captures Cessna Memorial, Fairgo Feature

Sammy Palumbo Gains on Carson Kirk in Jockey
Race

The second day of the current race meeting at Fairgo yesterday saw Mrs. George Fox's Rare capture the Calvin Cessna Memorial, feature event on the eight-race card.

Ridden by Ralph Kirk, Rare, after setting the pace for the first half of the six and a half furlongs, relinquished the lead momentarily to Cushmanacree, but forged to the front on the final turn to cross the wire a half a length ahead of Cushmanacree. Nordmeer, an imported entry owned by Ralph B. Strassburger, was third.

Rare returned $11.20, $3.90 and $2.90 while the favored Cushmanacree paid $2.80 and $2.50. Nordmeer's price was $3.00. Bill Keegan, proprietor of Shober's restaurant, presented a trophy to George Fox, trainer of the winner horse.

The crowd, slightly under that of Wednesday when the ten-day meeting got under way, didn't wager quite as heavily as the first day but the betting so far compares favorably with that of last year.

Palumbo Gains on Kirk

Sammy Palumbo, who rode three winners and four seconds, trimmed Carson Kirk's lead in the race for jockey honors. Kirk brought home two more winners, making a total

White Sox Trim Athletics, 5-2

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox gained undisputed possession of fourth place today as Orval Grove hurled a 5-2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics for his twelfth mound triumph of the season.

Rookie Lou Clout checked the Sox behind a 2-0 lead until the sixth. Timely hits and four stolen bases sent Clout to the showers and made trouble for his successor, Russ Christopher.

Of seven, and added two seconds and two thirds for a total of fifty-two points. Palumbo has thirty-seven markers, the result of four first, four seconds and five thirds.

Among the trainers, Claude Feltner saddled Kate Smith in the sixth to the W. J. Hughes, each with three winners. Hughes failed to score yesterday.

It was an unlucky day for Trainer Don Yates, Justice M, which ran in the sixth, and Royal Business, which ran out in the fifth, broke down. Justice M failed to finish the race and later was destroyed.

Fans who coupled Our Damsel in the second with Fast Light in the first collected a daily double payoff of $248.70. Fast Light paid the best price of the day, $20.70, $7.90 and $5.20.

Arduni Rides First Winner
Jockey Raymond Arduni, riding in the tenth race of his career, registered his first victory aboard Fast Light, a long shot, in the opener. Fast Light finished four lengths in front of Shanty Boat, the favorite, after leading all the way in the five-furlong sprint. Half Inch was third.

Our Damsel, fourth choice in the field of six, set the pace from start to finish to take the second, and paid $15.30, $9.90 and $4.00. Anizcoze shaded Mispant in a photo finish for second, with Carson Kirk bringing Anizcoze up fast in the stretch to take the place. Anizcoze returned $5.00 and $3.00 while Mispant returned $2.50.

Ship Signal, even-money favorite, made every post a winning one in taking the third by three lengths. Revely was second and Nom de Plume third. This race marked the

Cardinal Rookie Is Beaten by Brooklyn 4-3

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23 (AP)—Alpha Brazie, a rookie lefthander who is expected to start one of the World Series games, failed to subdue the Brooklyn Dodgers today as Whitlow Wyatt beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 3 for his tenth consecutive triumph.

The Dodgers, using a lineup liberally sprinkled with freshmen, made nine hits and led from the third inning on. They scored single runs in the third, fourth and fifth frames off Brazie and added what proved to be the deciding tally off lefty Harry Brecheen in the top of the ninth. It was Brazie's second loss against seven successes since joining the Cards in July.

Wyatt, giving eight blows while gaining his fourteenth victory of the year, was tagged for a run on two singles and a forceout in the fourth and for two more on Ken O'Dea's pinch home run in the ninth inning.

Wyatt hurt his right knee fielding a grounder in the fourth and had a pronounced limp through the remainder of the game. He paved the way for Brooklyn's first run in the third and also batted in the deciding out with an infield out in the ninth.

The victory assured the Dodgers of second place in the National League for at least another day.

The LaSalle High Explorers will make their 1943 football debut tonight at 8 o'clock at the Fort Hill stadium, tangling with the Moorefield (W. Va.) High Yellow Jackets, who also will be opening their campaign.

Phil Carolan, the Explorers' new coach, announced last night that Norman Geatz, right end, and Joe Carter, quarterback, have been named co-captains for tonight's clash. Carter, one of four LaSalle veterans, tips the scales at 163 pounds, while Geatz, first-string center last fall, weighs 150 pounds. Both are seniors.

The other two lettermen, both of whom will be in the starting lineup, are Jim Fahey, 180-pound left end, and Francis Passarelli, 140-pound halfback. Completing the starting backfield will be Tommy Geatz, left halfback, and Bill Nelson, fullback.

At left tackle will be Joe Divico, a three-year man on the squad. Charlie Cumiskey, another senior, will be at left guard with Eddie Malloy, 135-pound sophomore, at center. On the other side of the line, Art Beaulieu, a senior, will start at right guard with "Mickey" Glick, heavy man on the squad at 190 pounds, at right tackle.

Clay "Red" Ingram, who has been doing a lot of passing and kicking in practice sessions, will get into the game in its early stages. Norman Geatz and Tommy Geatz have shown promise in the punting department.

Five lettermen, one of them a regular last fall, are scheduled to start for Johnny Paugh's Yellow Jackets. Warren Roomsburg, 173-pound right end, is the only hold-over regular, but Earl Southerly, left tackle; Charles Bean, center; John Grover, right tackle, and Charles Vance, fullback, won letters last season.

All of Moorefield's substitutes are first-year men, as are Junior and John Halterman, slated to hold down starting halfback positions.

According to Coach Paugh, the Moorefield squad is in pretty fair

Red Sox Split With Indians

BOSTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Boston and Cleveland divided a double-header today before a slim crowd with the Red Sox punching out a 13 to 7 win in the first game and the Indians hammering out a 15-hit 6 to 4 win in the second game.

Ford Garrison, Sox rookie outfielder, had a field day in the first game with a homer, double and two singles to drive in four runs while his teammate Jim Tabor collected his twelfth homer of the year off losing pitcher Mel Harder. Reynolds, winning pitcher in the second game, walked eight and struck out the same number. Ken Keltner, who drove in three runs, was the leader of a savage hitting attack on Tex Hughson.

Dead Heat for Third

The sixth race, one of the closest of the current meeting, went to the favored Kate Smith with High Blame second and Belfonds Boy and Gradatim finishing in a dead heat for third.

Russo Shuts Out Detroit Tigers On Two Hits

Southpaw Puts Himself in Line for Assignment in World Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Marius Russo, the sore-armed southpaw, put himself in line for a World Series assignment today by pitching two-hit ball as the New York Yankees downed the Detroit Tigers 2 to 0.

It was the second straight triumph for Russo, who broke a personal five-game losing streak a week ago by holding the Philadelphia Athletics to four hits.

He fanned seven and walked four while handcuffing all the Tigers except rookie Jimmy Outlaw, who smacked a single off Bill Johnson's shins in the second inning, and Joe Wood, who lined another single over Joe Gordon's head in the sixth. The Yankees scored in the first inning on Nick Etten's single after New York loaded the bases on two hits and a walk by Rufus Gentry. Afterward the Yankees were held to four other hits by Gentry and Hal Newhouse, but they didn't need them.

By winning today the Yankees eliminated the Cleveland Indians from the pennant race and moved closer to the inevitable clinching of their fourteenth American League championship.

Pending a night game at Washington the Yankees needed two more triumphs to dispose of the stubborn Senators.

Braves Down Bucs

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23 (AP)—Big Jim Tobin continued his season-long jinx over his erstwhile mates, the Pirates, today as the Braves defeated Pittsburgh 2 to 1 for the second straight day.

Tobin's "flutter" ball worked beautifully. He didn't allow a hit until the fifth.

The Braves won the game off long Johnny Gee in the sixth. Connie Ryan doubled and scored on Eddie Joost's single. Tommy Holmes forced Joost, took second on Charlie Workman's safe bunt and denied the home plate on Chet Ross's double.

WARNING

IF YOU WAIT TOO LONG YOUR TIRES CANNOT BE RECAPPED

YES Your tires can be recapped when they have only 1/16 inches of tread depth (about 4,000 miles of wear) left. But your tires should be recapped as soon as the tread design has worn smooth, for the thinner you wear the tire, the greater is the danger of bruising the fabric underneath and the greater is the chance of a tire failure.

NO Your tires should not be recapped when worn down through the fabric. Such a tire has been weakened beyond repair and is fit for scrap only. And what a waste — when you might have saved valuable pre-war tire "carcasses." In fact, the same tire can be recapped several times if the carcass doesn't become injured in any way.

SAVED A new tread, or "cap," is placed on top of the old tread (after it has been buffed and conditioned). The tire is placed in a mold under pressure and heat, scientifically controlled. This vulcanizes the new tread to the old, replacing the rubber that has been worn away. The tire "carcass" has been saved.

WASTED If such a weak tire were recapped the rubber would be wasted — because this new tread would not hold. It is too late to save the "carcass." Better to have sold it for scrap than to use up good recapping material so badly needed today. Better still to have recapped it early!

Story of Spies Will Be Offered In Radio Drama

Friday Night Playhouse Will Present Version of a Movie

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. (AP)—John Garfield is announced movie guest for the Friday Night Playhouse on CBS tomorrow at 9. He will do a condensed radio version of the movie, "The Fallen Sparrow," in which he appeared. It is a story of spies.

Double or Nothing on MBS will use its program at 9:30 to mark the start of its fourth year of broadcasting. In doing so it will have a number of radio people as guests, including Senator Ford and Vincent Lopez. Miller McClintock, president of MBS, also is listed.

Concert Spot Changed

Calling Pan-America, the "good neighbor" concert series from the other America, now is being heard on CBS at 5:15 p. m. Fridays instead of Saturdays. It was moved because football now is taking up an important share of the Saturday schedule. . . . Margo of Stage, screen and sometimes radio, is expected as guest for Meet Your Navy on the Blue at 8:30. She will sing and do a skit. . . . Also listed as a guest of the evening is Harold Colman as an actor in the Sherlock Holmes drama on MBS at 8:30. This is somewhat of a departure for the detective drama, in that it seldom has guests.

In the advance scheduling of War zone programs are these: On CBS (1 a. m., 3:30, 6:13, 11:15 p. m. and 12:05 a. m.); On the Blue at (9:15 Jane Gowl in a sketch.

Fall Check-Up of Plum Trees in Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Fall and winter are the seasons when plum trees in the Victory garden or on the home grounds should be given a careful check-up. Be on the lookout for "black knot," a destructive disease among plum trees. The black swellings which characterize this disease can be easily seen once the foliage has dropped. Elongated black knots on the smaller limbs of a plum tree, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, are usually the first indication of the disease. These knots are usually from 1/2 inch to 6 or 8 inches in length, and from 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Frequently a pink mold is observed covering the knots during summer or fall. This is not a stage in the life of the black knot organism but is the fungus which frequently follows the scab of apples. If black knot is found to be present in a tree, promptness in cutting out and burning the knots in the autumn or early winter is the most effective way to control or eradicate the disease. Be on the watch also for brown rot which on plums as well as peaches attacks the fruit and leaves

Seven Speakers Will Appear Here In Forum Series

Debate Will Open Jaycees' Program at Allegany High, November 1

A noted Far East correspondent and a news gatherer who spent twenty years covering revolts and wars in the Orient will be featured in a debate as the opening attraction of the 1943-44 Community Forum lecture series of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce in the auditorium of Allegany high school, Monday, November 1, at 8 p. m.

Speakers for the inaugural event will be James R. Young, Far East correspondent, who was imprisoned for sixty-one days by Japanese police in solitary, and John Goette, correspondent for the International News Service in China. The subject of their debate will be "Resolved, We Must Change Our Asiatic Diplomatic Policy."

Young is the author of the amazing book "Behind the Rising Sun," which has been produced for the screen and is now showing in Cumberland while Goette, now on leave from I.N.S., is the author of "Japan Fights for Asia."

Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson, chairman of the Community Forum committee, yesterday announced that five other speakers will appear on the lecture series.

Criminologist Listed

Dr. James M. Heppron, one of the nation's leading criminologists, will come here to lecture on "Stemming America's Rising Tide of Juvenile Delinquency" at the Campobello school on Thursday, December 9.

Sir Norman Angell, economist, journalist and renowned world peace leader, will speak here on Tuesday, January 18, 1944 on the subject "British Imperialism and the Future." This speaker has an unusual aptitude for answering questions and his ideal of a lecture is a "conversation with the audience."

In the fourth of the series of lectures, scheduled for Tuesday, February 22, 1944, the speaker will be William B. Ziff, who will talk on "The Future of Air Power." Ziff is the author of the alarming and uncomfortably candid book, "The Coming Battle of Germany," in which he cautions that on those days he stepped, scoffed at "outmoded" land offensives and sneered at naval warfare. He is the president of the Ziff-Davis Publishing Company, and editor of "Flying."

Served as F. D. R. Advisor

Stanley High, prominent journalist and lecturer, will appear here Tuesday, March 14, 1944, and will speak on "What Kind of a Peace?" Closely associated with President Roosevelt as one of his family of advisors following the 1936 elections, High broke with the administration several years ago. During the presidential campaign of 1940 he supported the Republican candidate. He is a one-time theological student and is president of the Good Neighbor League.

The lecture series will be concluded on Tuesday, April 18, 1944 with the appearance of Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, author of "How To Read a Book," professor at large at the University of Chicago and visiting professor at St. John's college, Annapolis. He will speak on "The Questions Science Cannot Answer." Dr. Adler, a native of New York, and a former member of the editorial staff of the New York Sun, is the author of many books.

Dr. Jacobson said that all men and women in the armed services will be admitted to the lectures free and that a uniform will be their admission ticket. Special rates have been arranged for high school students.

Mahala Green Case Goes To Court of Appeals

An order for an appeal to the court of appeals from a decision entered in circuit court here by which Mahala J. Green, Nikop widow, lost her title to two bank accounts held by the late Frank J. Chuter, of near Barton, was filed recently by Mrs. Green's attorney, Edward J. Ryan.

The decision which is being appealed was handed down by Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan who decreed that Chuter's account in the First National bank of Cumberland is part of his estate and not Mrs. Green's property and that a judgment be issued against her for $1,237.73 she had already withdrawn from the Second National bank here.

Mrs. Green had been charged by Chuter's sisters with exercising undue influence on him causing him to make her joint owner of the accounts.

Eyerman Answers Charges in Local Newsstand Feud

Denies E. J. Clark's Priority Rights to North Centre Street Site

With Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman's denial of Edward J. Clark's priority rights to the North Centre street site, the curbside Sunday newspaper controversy entered its third round in circuit court yesterday.

In his answer to Clark's bill of complaint, Eyerman charged that the former did not and could not have any proprietary rights to sell papers on the public sidewalk by virtue of permission given by owners of property adjoining.

He stated that he was acting in his official capacity as chief of police on September 5 after he had received complaints about Clark and his agents disturbing the peace in front of the church during services or when services were about to be held. Eyerman alleged also that he ordered Clark to sell his papers on the north side of the entrance gate and gave O'Neill the south side.

Declaring that the subject matter of the suit is a mere matter for police regulation involving the preservation of peace and good order in the community, Eyerman charged that no legal right of Clark's was involved and that based upon his investigations, he believed that the moral rights, if not the legal rights, of M. F. O'Neill, party defendant, were grossly violated by Clark.

Referring to his duty as police chief, Eyerman said that he had no intention of limiting Clark's constitutional rights as he had charged, and that no question of freedom of the press was involved, either in printing or in distribution.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, is solicitor for Eyerman.

Pursuit Pilot's Story Is Among Library's Best

"God Is My Co-Pilot" Is Personal Narrative by Col. Robert L. Scott

A story of extraordinary bravery and firm faith is "God Is My Co-Pilot," by Col. Robert L. Scott, one of the many new volumes which have made their appearance at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Col. Scott is described by a national magazine as the "greatest of the pursuit men" and his book is a personal narrative which is a record of persistence, determination and courage.

Tells of Nip Invasion Lt. Juanita Redmond, of the Army Nurse Corps, has written a quiet but intensely moving recital of the invasion of the Philippines in a slim little book called "I Served on Bataan."

"Theodore Roosevelt, Strenuous American," is a splendid new biography of a great American, written by Alvin I. Harlow and illustrated by Oscar Ogg. The result of their collaboration is a fascinating volume.

An important new reference book is "Abbrevs," a dictionary of abbreviations, compiled by Herbert John Stephenson. Never before has there been compiled within a single volume so complete a collection of the many different abbreviations which business people, writers, scholars and laymen need to use correctly.

In this unique book we find in one alphabet, legal, medical, official, political, theatrical, religious, military, scientific and many other types of abbreviation. There are also separate lists of federal agencies and other special groups.

Other interesting editions include: "Heroes of Annapolis," a survey of the great achievements of many famous Naval Academy men, written by Alden Hatch.

Writes about Russia "Moscow Date Line," an up-to-the-minute view of Russia's government, people and war, by Henry C. Cassidy.

"Not Alone," by Dr. Joseph Sizoo, author of "Make Life Worth Living," also available at the library. "Roughly Speaking," by Louise Randall Pierson.

Persons Affected By Drought Urged To Boil Water

Barton Well Drillers Are Successful; School Will Start Full Sessions

Due to the serious water shortage in many Allegany county communities as a result of the extended drought, the health department yesterday urged persons relying on wells and cisterns for their supply to make sure that all water is boiled before drinking it.

The public water supply throughout Maryland is under the supervision of the Maryland State Department of Health which makes inspections at the source but wells and cisterns adjoining private homes are not inspected regularly and therein lies a potential danger of bacteria, especially in places where wells and cisterns have been idle for some time.

Communities hardest hit by the drought are Barton, Lonaconing and Mt. Savage, according to a survey made by the health department and many persons in those communities have been carrying water for long distances since July due to wells and springs drying up.

Gilbert C. Cooling, principal of Barton high school, last evening indicated that the first full session of school will be held next Monday as a result of well drillers being successful in striking a supply of water that will be pumped into the pipeline to the school.

The water will be furnished by a new 125-foot well and another well which has been deepened in recent days.

The Barton school has been operating since the opening of the term, September 8, but only one-hour morning sessions have been held because of lack of water for sanitation purposes.

What is the average speed of race horses?

This question is a timely one now that the racing season is fully under way at Fairgo and Chatter has done some research work to come up with an answer.

According to the records, a race horse will step between fifty and sixty feet a second, depending upon his class, the distance of the contest, and the condition of the track. The latter is of major consideration because, on a hard, fast course built for speed, a great horse can run a mile in 1:35 or better, whereas, at some of the ordinary tracks, the same animal would do well to beat 1:40.

Inasmuch as the average horse is over eight feet in length while running with neck stretched out, it means that if he is traveling at the rate of fifty-four feet a second, he negotiates what is equivalent to nearly seven times his own length in one second.

Records reveal that Man O' War, one of the mightiest striding horses of all time, is credited with average leaps of twenty-seven feet, meaning he made two jumps a second, even when traveling in comparatively slow time.

A horse in the selling plate division, such as racegoers see at Fairgo, are capable of doing a mile in one minute and forty seconds—a total of 100 seconds—on a fair sort of track. Divide 100 into 5,280 feet (the length of a mile) and you find that his speed average for the entire journey was 52.8 feet a second.

High School Girls Hear about Cadet Nurse Program

Lieuts. Derr and Jackson Address Fort Hill and Allegany Students

Organization, requirements and opportunities of the government sponsored cadet nurse corps were explained to upper-class girls at Fort Hill and Allegany high schools yesterday by Lieuts. Thelda Derr and Leona Jackson, of the army and navy nurse corps, who are in Cumberland on behalf of the nationwide drive to recruit 3,000 nurses for the armed services monthly.

Under the cadet program, the speakers explained, those accepted for training have their tuition paid, receive uniforms and books, and $15 monthly pay for the first year. The second year the pay is increased to $20 monthly and $30 for the third year.

May Train in Local Hospitals

Those interested may enter the Allegany hospital, this city, or any other hospital which has been accepted for cadet training. After training in that hospital for two and a half years, cadets may then elect to spend the last six months in an army or navy hospital. At the conclusion of the three-year period they are eligible for their state board examination and induction into the service corps is their wish.

The only obligation involved, Lieuts. Derr and Jackson explained, is that upon graduation, the cadet nurses practice nursing for the duration and six months, whether in the armed services or in civilian hospitals. Even if they marry before the war ends, they must still continue in the profession.

Free Graduates for Services

The speakers pointed out that the program was designed primarily to have nurses come in to free graduates for the army and navy corps and in the last six months, the cadets, themselves, could actually be assisting in the service hospitals.

Urging the students to prepare themselves scholastically, the lieutenants stated that the prime requirements for admission were a good high school standing and physical fitness.

Lieuts. Derr and Jackson were accompanied on their visits by Miss Sadie Gladwin, chairman of the Red Cross Nurses recruitment committee.

QUALITY IS KEYNOTE OF LIVESTOCK EXHIBITS, COUNTY AGENT SAYS

With exhibitors from Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maryland, the livestock display at Fairgo next week is expected to be one of the most well-balanced and of the highest quality that has been here in the past several years, according to Ralph McHenry, county farm agent.

Although he said he met with some difficulty in getting exhibitors to ship their stock because of risks that might be incurred under wartime traveling, quality rather than quantity will dominate the exhibits.

McHenry said that some of the exhibits are expected to arrive tomorrow but all will be placed by Monday. Among them will be the following:

Jersey cattle, A. F. O'Brien, Mann's Choice, Pa., and George Styles, Boonsboro; Guernsey cattle, Ralph McCawley, Hagerstown; Holstein cattle, Frank Remsburg, Frederick county; Duroc-Jersey swine, Robert Delaughter, Jefferson; Shropshire and Hampshire sheep, Jack Shober, Somerset, Pa., and Cheviot sheep, M. S. Dean, Zenia, Ohio.

Local cattle will be exhibited by 4-H Boys' club members and the Miller brothers, of Midland.
